[1] NB, herein probationary and tenured faculty comprise 'tenure track faculty'. This is my idiom; not the bylaws.

[2] "Faculty officers shall be elected by the Faculty and shall be full-time members of the Faculty." (II.6) But 'Faculty' doesn't mean, you know, faculty. It is the name of an organization. To wit: "The members of the Faculty, understood as the organization for carrying out these responsibilities, shall accordingly be: (a) all full-time members of the teaching faculty and (b) all part-time members of the teaching faculty who are serving as elected members of the Faculty Senate." (II.2) Since the ARF rep and AS rep do not satisfy (a) or (b), they don't vote for officers. However, if the ARF rep had a full-time appointment as a lecturer, they would vote. Don't look at me. I didn't make these rules.

[3] "Members elected by the Colleges....shall be elected by the Faculty within each of the respective units." (V.3.1). Lecturer Senators are part of the Faculty (II.2). Thus they may vote.

[4] "Nominations of representatives to the CSU Academic Senate shall be made and elections conducted in the same manner as nominations and elections of officers of the Faculty" (II.7.1). Mutatis mutandis for the points in [2].

[5] "Twelve Senators shall be elected at-large by and from the Faculty." (III.1.2.1) Mutatis mutandis for the points in [2]

[6] It may seem odd that this row is mostly empty for the senate. That's because this chart represents answers to the question "In virtue of what does one vote for x office?". Faculty officers et al vote for college elected standing committee representatives in virtue of their being college faculty, not in virtue of their being officers.

[7] The ARF and AS reps are Senators. Therefore they vote for Senate-elected positions.

[8] Full time lecturers vote for lecturer reps (III.1.2.6). While they are Faculty, only tenure track faculty vote for senators (III.1.2.2)
